ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

One of the most picturesque parables of Christ, as related in the Gospel story, is that of the Sower and the Seed. It is this parable which we have chosen to hallow the pages of our 1962 Lanthorn. We have selected from other sources what noted writers have sung about sowers and their seed — little gems to adorn each page. Our art motif is built upon the Chi Rho, a symbol of Christ, the Divine Sower. For the introductory section, we have chosen a second color — green, the symbol of hope and tender growing things.

I will multiply thy seed as the stars.

Exodus: 32

To no one on earth is the Divine Seed so intimately connected as to Our Holy Father, the Pope. From the time of Saint Peter it is the Pope whom the Divine Sower chooses to take His place; it is he whose first duty is to see the flowering of the Seed in the souls of men. It is to Our Holy Father, Pope John XXIII, therefore, that we, the senior class of Nazareth Academy, reverently dedicate our 1962 Lanthorn.

... some of whom

The Divine Seed, sown in the souls of three of our faculty, has been harvested. Sister Bernard, who for the last ten years, Sister Marie Aimee, and Sister Grace Regina, who for the entire period of their religious life, worked untiringly with us at Nazareth, now stand before the beloved Sower, their hands laden with fruit.

To Sister Marie Aimee, more than any other member of the faculty, may be attributed all those ideal traditions for which Nazareth today is known. It was she who, for over fifty years by her kindness, her gentleness, and her love of God in us, imparted to many hundred of Nazareth students the true meaning of the cultured woman.

each morning in the library, now waits to greet us near the throne of God. She showed many of us the beauty residing in the Seed, and Its flowering in her own life.

In her years of guidance, Sister Grace Regina aided many graduates of Nazareth to select courses best suited to their ability. Her teaching of French opened to many of us the golden gate to French culture, and to herself, the gate of heaven.

Our three beloved teachers rest in the eternal "now", where they gaze upon the Divine Sower whose Word they lovingly interpreted for us at Nazareth. Their absence from the Garden of Nazareth leaves Nazareth poorer, but the flowers which they planted there will forever make Nazareth the richer.

The seed of Religion purifies our hearts . . .

Of all the studies which Nazareth includes in her curriculum, the one most closely connected with our theme — The Sower and the Seed — is religion.

In our freshman religion classes we study the life of Christ. Through His thirty years on earth, He sowed His seed — His doctrine of holiness — by His way of life, His parables, His miracles. We learn, if we accept and cherish this doctrine, we shall find happiness.

The means that prepare us to increase Christ's doctrine of holiness within us is the subject of our sophomore religion classes. We learn that among the most important of these are the sacramentals, the sacraments, and particularly Holy Mass. They prepare the ground for the growth of the seed of the Divine Sower, Christ's Holy Word.

In our junior classes we study the mystical Body of Christ — the Church with its triumphant, historical past. We have only to read the lives of the saints to know what happiness they derived from their love of Christ and His Holy doctrine.

In senior apologetics class we learn to prove the existence of God to those who seek the Divine Sower. In this way we, ourselves, may become not only Christ bearers to others, but also bearers of the divine seed — His sacred doctrine.

Thus, the Sower, Christ Himself — His life, His teachings, His divine mission — becomes the center of our religion classes at Nazareth.

Modern Methods in Teaching Religion

A Discourse on Doctrine

(Upper): The study of the means of becoming holy is one of the units of the sophomore religion class. Listening to an explanation on the sacramentals by Sister Ramon are Winene Wells, Judith Greenlar, Anita Scuteri, and Barbara Hoeve.

... while that of Literature inspires us ...

Many facets of human nature have been presented to us in our literature courses at Nazareth. Among the most interesting is the influence which some people exert over others.

We have come to know that this influence, when good, has brought about increased happiness in the lives of others. Captain McWhirr in Conrad's novel Typhoon inspired the fearful Mr. Jukes during a tempest to courageously bring the vessel to safety; Father Damien in John Farrow's biography Damien the Leper, encouraged the lepers of Molokai to hope that through medical care their disease could be arrested, and in some instances cured; Stephen Vincent Benet, in his poem

Silver on the beauty of the night, has influenced many of us, readers, to look with new eyes on nature's wonderland.

Yet, we learn that this influence is not always for good. In Shakespeare's play Macbeth, Lady Macbeth, through her own and Macbeth's greed for power, persuaded Macbeth to murder his king; Stephen Leacock, in his essay My Financial Career, shows us what ridiculous consequences self-consciousness can mete out to its victim.

Thus, in our literature courses at Nazareth there abound in all its different types a mosaic of personalities where more colorful characters dominate others.

Mr. Webster — Our Infallible Authority

(Right): The most important book in freshman English classes is the dictionary. Rosemarie Provoski, Carolyn Doran, and Diane D'Allesio have here discovered the correct manner of accenting words.

Truth and beauty are the fruits of Mathematics.

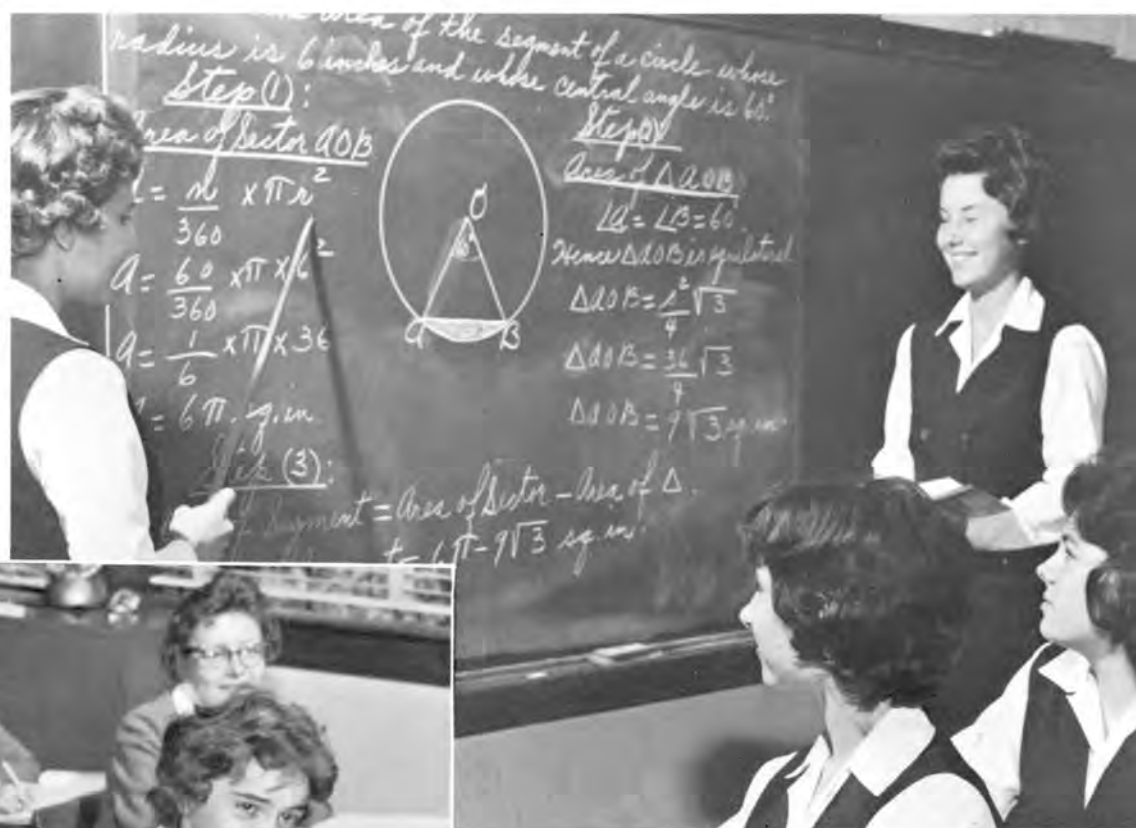

With rockets, satellites, and astronauts circling the globe, the need for skillful mathematicians has become imperative. Recognizing this need, Nazareth has increased her number of higher mathematics courses and encouraged those of us with ability to enroll in them.

After studying basic mathematics or algebra we find ourselves well on our way to a better understanding of the world of unknowns, equations, propositions and logarithms. It is these subjects that form for us a strong foundation for intermediate algebra, eleventh and twelfth year mathematics. Here we receive keener knowledge of the unknowns, angles, and graphs and also a deeper appreciation of the great engineering feats of our time — the designing of space vehicles, the overcoming of atmospheric forces, the calculating of routes and positions of space crafts — all problems solved by higher mathematics.

As we study geometry with its rectangles, parallelograms, trapezoids, and regular polygons, we follow a road leading to great engineering marvels. The Empire State Building cutting the clouds, San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge dipping and rising gracefully across the bay, the United Nations Building drawing tourists from the four corners of the world, were all made possible through mathematics.

Indeed, as man probes deeper into space, we come to know that the problems we solve in our high school mathematics classes are most important and essential.

Geometry by Easy Steps

(Upper): Catherine Ann Hiler shows her classmates: Mary Culhane, Patricia Cudzilo, and Susan Fredrick, how one principle of geometry can be solved readily.

History's harvest of dynamic events began . . .

One of the most precious gifts endowed on man is his freedom. Yet, in history courses at Nazareth we learn that, down through the centuries from the dawn of civilization, there has been a constant struggle to retain or regain this valued treasure.

In our ancient history courses we learn that as civilization grew, slavery grew with it. We read of how the King of Babylon in the height of his power and the Pharaohs of Egypt enslaved the Jews, and of how Alexander of Greece and the Caesars of Rome imposed slavery on their conquered peoples. Champions of freedom arose from time to time, but terror and ignorance had too firmly cemented the bonds of slavery.

Later, we learn in World History that, during the early days of Christianity with its laws for peace unheeded, civilization was all but extinct. Hordes of barbarians overran the land and killed its people. To protect the survivors the Feudal System emerged, but it did little to educate these people; the industrial revolution followed, and it was then that man emerged as an individual, ready to assert his rights and to claim his freedom.

Wars followed. The American and French revolutions, and World War I and II proved what the love of freedom could do.

Now the threat of Communism faces the free world. Shall we also, like many, sit in fear and ignorance behind the iron or bamboo curtain? No, indeed; for we learn in our history classes that, if we reverence the articles of our Constitution which has as its foundation the laws of God, Communism will never dominate our people.

Languages implant in man a culture . . .

For those of us who, at some time or other, have desired to join the passengers abroad a trans Atlantic plane or an ocean liner, Nazareth with her many language courses can in no little degree satisfy that longing. Latin, Italian, French, German, and Spanish classes, all provide wonderful tours to the most picturesque and celebrated places in Europe.

In our study of Latin and Italian we find Italy, their birthplace, pointing with just pride to the classical architecture of the Roman Forum, of the Colosseum, and of St. Peter's Basilica; to her art treasurers of the Vatican; to her mosaics in Ravenna, and to her picturesque waterways in Venice.

Our Spanish classes introduce us to Spain's distinctive architecture in the magnificent Alhambra, and in the El Escorial near Madrid; to her exciting bullfights, and to the colorful attire of her people.

In our French classes we learn that France also retains much of the grandeur of other days—her art treasures of the Louvre and of the Palace of Versailles, her Cathedral of Notre Dame and Chartres, yet amid all this we are introduced to the most modern celebrated sidewalk cafes and dress salons in the world.

In our study of German we are invited to visit her libraries, world renowned for their scientific and medical treatises, to her picturesque waterways, where castles and myths intertwine to make her the world's most famous fairyland.

Thus, every language book may become a plane, an ocean liner. We have only to register in one of the various courses, and our trip is assured.

The seed of Science incites our curiosity . . .

Science, as we learn in our classes at Nazareth, is as old as man's curiosity, and so long as man desires to know the causes of effects, science will forge ahead.

Man's curiosity concerning the elements has always brought great dividends. In our study of chemistry, we no longer are amused at the endeavors of ancient alchemists to change mercury and lead into gold, for we learn that atomic scientists today actually produce gold in small quantities from baser metals. Then again, while the ancient Persians discovered that purple dye could be formed from animal shells, we today learn how dyes are formed from specific organic and inorganic molecules.

Through our study of physics, we discover how certain forces, which enabled the ancients to move huge statues with the aid of logs, and to sail ships, are working today sending men into space, and smashing atoms. We see how these forces have been at work since the world began, and will remain unchanged throughout eons of time.

Through biology we learn how man's earliest curiosity led him to sport odd ideas concerning such biological topics as the origin of life, the causes and cures of diseases, and the mystery of sleep. Today we learn about man's newest attempts to produce life artificially, the latest cures for cancer and heart disease, and the basic mechanics of sleep. In addition, we see that scientists of all ages perform experiments to prove or disprove accepted ideas.

Truly, in our science classes, we learn how the oldest scientific principles relate to our modern advances in all fields, and that as long as man will ask questions, scientific research will furnish us with wonders.

Fine Arts bring forth buds of beauty . . .

We have found in our fine art classes that no study better portrays our inner self — our love of beauty, our emotions, our creativity, all particles of the Divine Sower implanted within us

Our drawing classes can be periods of quiet joy. We are thrilled when with brush and color we can capture on canvas what we ourselves see in a rose, in a twilight sky, or in the careworn features of an elderly face; or with fingers and moist clay we can capture beauty in the rhythmic lines of a vase, or in the jeweled pattern of a mosaic tile.

There is an inner joy to be found in our drama classes. We experience a feeling of accomplishment when we enact great scenes, impersonate famous characters, utter immortal lines of great playwrights — a feeling that gives rise to that aesthetic emotion that resides in the innermost part of our being.

Our music classes, both vocal and instrumental, form our choir, glee club, orchestra, and band. We meet daily in small groups to interpret, to sing, and to enjoy the masterpieces of great composers, which for centuries stirred the souls of their hearers.

Thus, our fine art courses bring to our daily experiences many beautiful gifts — gifts which God has bestowed on us to reveal to us His beauty.

Business is embedded in our economic system.

The heart of America is in the home, but the mind of America is in the big business concerns that stretch across our nation. To prepare students to fill adequately the demand for alert office and secretarial assistants, Nazareth offers a comprehensive business program.

Here, in well equipped classrooms, which take on all the appearances of modern, busy offices, we learn, besides the fundamentals of shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping, how to run various modern office machines, how to file letters, how to prepare carbons for the ditto machine and stencils for the mimeograph. A course in consumer education may enable us to become expert in judging the value of sales products, or in preparing income tax reports, while one in business law may prove useful later on in solving simple legal problems.

We also learn that the top office positions are filled not by the most fashionably dressed or the most entertaining young person, but by the most poised, the most cultured, the most efficient.

Nazareth in this way prepares her business majors to hold outstanding positions in our modern business world.

Operation Ditto

A Lesson on Taxation

Homemaking cradles the seed of love . . .

Would you pass a test in knowing exactly how to measure a "dash" of pepper, or how to thread a needle in a blinking of an eye? If you fail, chances are you have not been enrolled as a member of Nazareth's exceptional homemaking classes.

For those of us who wish to know more about cooking than how to heat a TV dinner, there is homemaking I class. Each day in the little model home on our campus, we are taught the art of setting an attractive table, of turning out a high angel cake, and of roasting a juicy chicken or a turkey to golden brown perfection. We also learn how to be perfect hostesses at teas and parties, and other "tricks of the trade."

For those of us who wish we could thread a needle in a twinkling, there is homemaking II class. When we graduate from this class, we may not be able to sew a Dior fashion, but we are well satisfied with what we have learned. By the end of the year, we will have learned to refinish furniture, to do interior decorating, and to sew a skirt, a blouse, or even a suit. Our best efforts, therefore, are put into all our projects for we know we shall model the fruits of our labor in the annual fashion show held in our auditorium.

Therefore, if you want to learn how to measure pepper in "dashes" artfully, or thread needles like a veteran, do it through Nazareth's homemaking department. Then with other secrets like these our future House Beautiful will be the happiest of homes.

... while Physical Education expands those of strength.

In today's world of easy living, with the escalator, the family car, the chore saving household equipment, physical exercise has almost ceased to exist. To offset this deficiency and its dire results, Nazareth provides her students with a well rounded program in physical education.

Beginning last year our upperclassmen gymnasium periods took on a new look. As most of us had learned the fundamentals of basketball and other athletic activities in our freshman and sophomore year, these were reserved as lunch period and after-school activities. Instead, lightning streaks of energetic movement gave place to graceful rhythmic motion and dancing made its debut.

Our program starts with the modern dance. Classes are divided into groups with each staging a modern dance for the others. The program also includes ball-room dancing and square dancing. Its purpose is to enable everyone, even the most athletic girls, to gain poise and self-confidence.

All who have taken part in the program, in class and out, have benefited greatly, and wholeheartedly agree that the new program be continued.

We saw American life in "Our Town" . . .

To our delight the choice of this year's Senior Play was Thornton Wilder's classic, Our Town.

Its unusual setting—a stage without properties—captured the audience as an excellent cast faithfully pantomimed every action from the consuming of an ice cream cone to star-gazing from second story windows.

Its character roles were well chosen from Emily Webb, the lead, to Wally Webb, the town paper boy. Especially to be commended is the stage manager, whose fine impersonation of his part paved the way for a smooth presentation of the play.

Its quaint costumes lent a charm to the scenes of this typical early twentieth century American town, where an atmosphere of friendliness and neighborly interdependence predominated.

Our Town truly was a joyous selection, for not only is it a play familiar to every junior and senior English student, but it is also a play that has endeared itself to all our hearts.

The Marriage Ceremony

The Beginnings of Love

(Lower): The Grover's Corners' soda fountain is the scene of new found love for Emily (Cheryl DiCiccio) and George (Gregory Maier). Our Stage Manager (Richard Hommel) acting as drug store proprietor, and expounding his own philosophy about automobiles, prepares another order of strawberry sodas for Emily and George.

"Isn't the

... oriental love in "The Lute Song".

All the exquisite charm of an oriental setting was presented to us in Irwin and Howard's musical romance, The Lute Song, sung by the Perosian Choir. An operetta, The Lute Song is adapted from the famous Chinese play Pi-Pa-Ki.

From the time our sympathy first went out to the sad fate of the lovers, parted by famine, to the time the sweet song of the lute reunites them, our interest never lagged.

Bright costumes and unusual stage properties accented the quaintness of the Chinese atmosphere in the Street of the Hair Buyers, the temple of Buddha, and the Palace of the Prince. "Invisible" property men—choir members, dressed in black Chinese male costumes—changed the scenery before the audience, as players gracefully manipulating their fans, bowed low to them.

The musical numbers, especially Mountain High Valley Low, Longing, and Broken Hearts were sung so well by our Perosian Choir, assisted by members of Rochester Music Theater, St. John Fisher College, Aquinas Institute, and McQuaid Jesuit High School, that they have become popular with all at Nazareth. However, See the Monkey, with its gay, whimsical note, became our favorite.

Indeed, this year's Perosian play will be remembered with tears and smiles for its romantic and unique presentation.

The Betrothal Ceremony

"Oh, My Parents" ..

(Right): "... stop quarreling," implores Tchao-ou-Niang (Mary Cassata), whose father-in-law, Tsai (Richard Hommel), resentful at the seemingly forgetfulness of his son at court, loses control of himself. Here Madame Tsai (Jean Castle) lies on the ground where she has been thrown by her husband.

Solemnity marks our Christmas drama . . .

This year's Christmas play, Gretchen Bogan's choral drama, Genesis and You, brought to us at Nazareth more than ever before, the true meaning of Christmas.

Beginning with the verse: "And on the sixth day of creation God created man," through those relating man's betrayal and the divine promise of his redemption, the drama was presented to us by the choral groups and the dramatics class. The beauty of Eve's creation, the solicitude in the warnings of the Good Spirits, the wile in the tempting speeches of the Evil Spirits, and the joyous ecstasy at the promise of a Redeemer, all were excellently portrayed by our choral groups.

The principals in the cast also merit praise. Eve, in her chaste innocence before the Good Spirits, in her sinful, vacillating attitude before the Evil Spirits, in her awful realization of evil, and in her reverential gratitude at the divine revelation, presented with her supporting cast, a masterful piece of acting.

Few who beheld the drama will ever forget Eve's overwhelming realization of the consequences of her one sinful act, or the unfathomable mystery of God's goodness to man.

The Promise of Man's Redemption

(Lower): To our first parents God revealed Mary's part in the Redemption. Here is presented the Nativity scene with Our Lady (Margaret Wakefield), the Christ Child, surrounded by the Spirits of Good (Mary Kamb, Marilyn Metherell, Mary Ellen Rowan, Sharon Robbins, Georgia Beluke and Anne Schuhart) who pay homage to the new born King.

Be opened, and bud forth a Savior.

... and formal beauty our Snowflake Serenade

As we swished and swirled at our Christmas dance, Snowflake Serenade, the lilting notes of Syl Novelli transformed each of us from an ordinary Cinderella into a Queen for a Night.

The fulfilled world of fantasy which vanished as we became "adults" of ten, twelve, and fourteen winters was with us once more. Whirling and laughing, we found we had recaptured this wonderful world of make-believe.

Sparkling blue and white snowflakes became our chandeliers; the Chamber of Commerce, our palace; the decorative yuletide cookies and punch, our queenly nourishment; and each escort, a Prince Charming!

As quickly as a snowflake disappears, that fatal hour, twelve, rang out, and the queens found themselves Cinderellas once more. However, Snowflake Serenade will never melt from our memory, for we have tucked it firmly in our hearts, a treasure to cherish forever.

Amid the Snowflakes...

Physical fitness fosters academic growth . . .

One glimpse of our Nazareth sports calendar is sufficient to convince anyone of our Athletic Association's determination to fulfill President Kennedy's plea for physical fitness among American students.

Pep Assembly Day is a very special day—a day on which the student body marches into the auditorium to the accompaniment of the school band, to hear those chosen cheerleaders present their pep songs, to hear two girls from each homeroom chosen as members of the class teams; to applaud the junior and senior sports enthusiasts named members of the two big school teams—the All Stars and the Varsity.

Games scheduled, besides basketball, include softball, volleyball, table tennis, and ping pong, the last two of which close with animated tournaments. All sports, however, are not confined to the gymnasium. Hockey and baseball teams make good use of our campus, and tennis matches are fought on our tennis court.

Social events also enliven the sports program. The annual spring picnic is held at Genessee Valley Park where relay races are sandwiched between lunches of hot dogs, potato chips, and cold drinks. Another favorite event is the snow party at Ellison Park. There, on snowy slopes, tobogganing and skiing more than whet our appetites for the box lunches and gallons of hot cocoa we consume inside a reserved cabin, warmed by a roaring fire.

Thus, Nazareth, through her Athletic Association, has striven to perfect her students, not only spiritually and mentally, but also physically, thereby complying with our President's wise request for a physically strong American youth.

On the Firing Line

(Upper): Our Athletic Association officers: Rosemarie Kulikowski, Michele Gorman, Carol DiDomenico, and Kathleen Schoeffel, watch the clock, as a game comes to an exciting end.

... which basketball promotes.

According to our own Gallup poll, basketball tops all other sports at Nazareth. From the first week of school the gym becomes a scene of intense action for those who hope to become members of the school teams, the class teams, or the homeroom teams.

Every Friday night the school teams—the All-Stars and Varsity players—vie for the championship. These teams are well matched. At our Christmas game, they, because of ties, played two five minute overtimes, while during the last game the bleachers were treated to several sensational "swish" shots.

Class teams also hold animated contests with one another. Freshmen fight sophomores, as juniors tackle seniors. The winners of the two groups challenge each other. Homerooms also play against one another.

The big play-offs take place as the winning homeroom plays the winning class. The bleachers take on an added strain for the final game in which the class-homeroom winner plays the All-Star-Varsity champion. The winner of this game is the basketball champion of the school.

Our extensive basketball program's results are evidenced on Athletic Association awards day, as hard working students are rewarded for their efforts. Basketball, however, gives us more than numeral awards; it gives us the physical strength and idealistic sportsmanship to deal with our daily problems.

A coin cavalcade enlivens Convent Day...

A Latin American fiesta, high on the foothills of the Andes, with all its clamor and display of brilliant goods, is usually a treat reserved for those who live or visit south of the border. Since booths on our Convent Day represented the various countries of Latin America however, such a fiesta came to Nazareth.

Even the weather matched that of the Andean foothills. Cold temperatures and winds forced us to wear winter coats, but did not chill our exuberant hearts, as we spent freely on food, games, and small articles.

A vital part of any fiesta, food, was here in abundance. Cakes and fudge were raffled while cookies, pizza, and ice cream were sold. Hot dog, hamburger, and pop lines were long, not only at lunch time, but also throughout the day.

Preparations for this fiesta had been started months ahead by Catholic Student Mission Crusaders. Red, green, and yellow trading stamps were collected to purchase gifts and stuffed animals to be raffled. Booths were planned and many of us volunteered to staff them—booths where handmade baby clothes, handkerchiefs, and aprons were sold.

For those who were penniless by late afternoon, or for those who just wanted to relax, a dance—a must at any fiesta—was held. Also, a movie, The Toy Tiger was shown.

As we finally trudged wearily home from the fiesta, we felt the warm glow of having done a job well. Later in the week, we learned with a thrill that we cleared over six thousand dollars for the convent fund.

Clear Calling

Hail, Holy Queen

(Lower): No ceremony at Nazareth is more impressive as that in which our May Queen, Margaret Roney, assisted by her court: Jean Arioli, Ellen Klueber, Josephine Lombardo, Barbara Morrison, and Barbara Roberts, places a crown of white flowers upon Our Lady's head.

... while Holy Mass hallows May Day.

May Day this year dawned with gray skies and cold wet winds, but the weather in no way damped or cooled our ardor in paying tribute to Mary, the mother of the Divine Sower. Ours was a special tribute—a tribute advocated by Bishop Kearney—in that we were to forget ourselves and our requests, and think only of honoring Our Lady. As the Bishop explained, "We don't even ask her to keep the rain away." It was a hard resolution, for Convent day festivities held out doors were to follow the ceremonies.

Everyone takes part in our May Day ceremonies. The whole student body sings the ordinary of Our Lady's Mass, celebrated by our chaplain and presided over by the Bishop, while the blue and gold gowned Perosian choir chant the proper.

Behind the altar on a high pedestal banked with palms and massive bouquets of roses is our Lady's statue. At the base of the pedestal is a large urn into which representatives from each homeroom, dressed in floor length white formals, place roses, blessed by the Bishop. On the head of the statue the May Queen, assisted by her court, places a white floral crown, also blessed by the Bishop. This is the beautiful climax of our May Day ceremony.

The memories of this ceremony in honor of Our Lady will remain in our hearts long after the red roses wither and fade, the white formals yellow with age, and May Day songs no longer vibrate in the halls of Nazareth.

Our aim is self sanctification . . .

Nazareth's main goal for her students—spiritual sanctification—is being forwarded through the efforts of the Sodality of Our Lady and the Catholic Students Mission Crusade.

The Sodality of Our Lady provides, perhaps, the best means of self-sanctification. The Sodality's influence is felt in the many Holy Communion received at weekly Friday Mass and on First Fridays, in the increase in spiritual reading and in the purchase of spiritual books, in the reverential attitude in halls on adoration days and on days of retreat; in the eagerness with which junior sodalists consult senior members on disturbing problems, all of which truly show a genuine desire to become, through self-sanctification, Mary-like, and like Mary bearers of Christ to others.

The Catholic Students Mission Crusade provides, also, a means of sanctification. It is shown principally in their spirit of mortification and charity. We find its members preparing Christmas boxes of clothing, books, and toys for the poor in missions all over the world. Substantial checks, also, are sent, the money being derived from the sacrifice of an extra milk shake, a candy bar, or a Saturday afternoon movie, or from the sale of Christmas cards, paper, and ribbon. Yes, a tireless salesman type of missionary for Christ is the mark of our mission members.

Hence, Nazareth offers us two excellent means of making each of us what the psalms describe as the gallant woman, who having seen to her own household—her own self perfection—proceeded to provide for her servants—the sanctification of others.

... to train us for Christian leadership.

The Student Council and National Honor Society of Nazareth Academy afford a means for growth in the responsibilities of leadership—a "Make Friends and Influence People" proposition put into effect.

Lively discussions on school affairs and the planning of annual activities are carried on at the Student Council's meetings. The discussions center on such problems as acquiring a sense of responsibility in keeping school premises attractive, supporting school projects, and acquiring before-school study habits. Our activities stretch throughout the year; some provide merriment while all foster a feeling of togetherness. Among the most popular this year were the Student Council Father Daughter Dances, our Student Council Barn dance for juniors and seniors, the showing of film strips which provoked laughter while "driving home" valuable information, and career movies which gave us a knowledge of the requirements and the responsibilities necessary for certain walks of life.

The National Honor Society, with its accent on character, scholarship—the magic per cent is 89.5—leadership, and service, is also an excellent training ground for future leaders. Our meetings bring outside speakers, Aquinas debaters, and film strip showings. Our most important activities are our annual banquet to which the faculty are invited, and our annual week end trip this year to Albany, stopping at the Tom Thumb Motel, where heated swimming pools became a reality, and tramping through the Pioneer Village at Cooperstown, where we were stirred by the early American spirit of open hearths, spinning wheels, and long laid-away muskets.

Thus, Nazareth, through her Student Council and National Honor Society, develops our personalities and our intellects, preparing us for the tremendous task of Christian leadership.

In our clubs we acquire culture . . .

In our present jet propelled age, when nations are being brought closer together, our language clubs have come to realize the importance of knowing more about each nation's people, culture, and customs.

Through audio-visual aids—films, filmstrips, slides, and movies—used in our monthly meetings, each club learns the glories connected with the country whose language it is learning. The architecture of ancient Roman ruins, of Gothic cathedrals, of Renaissance basilicas and palaces; the treasure houses of art—the Vatican Chambers, the Pitti Palace, the Escorial, the Louvre; the masterpieces of great artists, all are brought to us by audio-visual means, and provide cultural material for pleasant club room tours.

Social activities, as a means of acquainting members with the customs of certain peoples, are also part of the clubs' programs. The Latin banquet in honor of Vergil's birthday, the Italian dinners with spaghetti served with genuine Italian sauce, the French fairy tale plays spoken in French, the German parties with German pastries eaten to the accompaniment of Rhein-ish folk songs, the Spanish fiesta with its graceful dance numbers became joyous events, to which many of the participants came dressed in native costumes.

Thus, our language clubs, through their meetings and social activities, do much in cementing a closer bond of friendship between our nation and those across the sea, a bond which may in time bring about universal peace.

... decide our future careers ...

The golden opportunity for preparing for several walks of life are offered us at Nazareth through her future clubs.

The bustling business world is presented to the prospective secretary through the future secretaries' club. To acquaint them with the duties and responsibilities of an office position, its members accept posts as private secretaries to the faculty, sign up for excursions to Kodak Park and the Community Chest which provide a panoramic view of organized office systems, and attend the monthly meetings where speakers impart valuable information regarding possibilities for careers as future secretaries.

Acting as teacher's aides is the most important work of members of the future teachers' club. Correcting tests and homework papers, visiting area schools, and attending lectures provide the future teacher with a taste of future duties and a knowledge of the teaching field.

This year members of the future nurses' club were introduced in the aura of a nurse's life. Visiting St. Joseph's Hospital in Syracuse, the Rochester Dental Dispensary, and attending a lecture given by Sister Karen of Nazareth College, constituted a part of the club's program. Actual experience, in addition to caring for the sick, is offered to the members in the form of volunteer work in area hospitals.

Here at Nazareth, members of the future scientists' club become acquainted with the wonders and progress of science. Through field trips, a lecture on radioactivity by Dr. Sutton, and a tour of the cancer laboratory in a Buffalo hospital, we feel ourselves a part of the great world of science. Our knowledge of scientific research and its problems broadened after viewing a movie on Pasteur's life and accomplishments.

Thus, our future clubs are organizations which not only introduce us to but also prepare us for a career in some future walk of life.

Future Scientists' Club

... and enjoy interchange of interests.

"We need the comrade heart that understands." In the various clubs of Nazareth, we find many with the same interests as our own. Through these clubs long hours can be pleasurably and profitably spent with others.

The English Club beckons those who love good literature and desire to share it with other book lovers. The Library Club also unites book lovers, and teaches them the care of books while instilling in its members a greater respect for and a knowledge of the "tools man builds with."

The History Club arouses the interests of its members in history through its yearly trip to an historical site. It also sponsors the annual visit of foreign teenage diplomats to Nazareth. For those of us who seek the thrill of the theater and find the fever of the stage in our veins, the Dramatics Club provides the opportunity to share our hopes and dreams of limelight greatness.

For those of us who realize the importance of safety and wish to impress it on others, the Safety Council offers us the perfect change. In performing the appointed duties, at the bus stop at school dismissal, we know we are serving others and promoting the cause of safety.

The clubs of Nazareth serve as a binding force, joining the many hearts of Nazareth. These clubs help kindred hearts to find each other and to share the enjoyment of their mutual interests.

Dramatics Club

Library Club

Safety Council

Our Choir choruses lend a charm . . .

If, as George Eastman, a philanthropist of our own city, has said, "For a well rounded life one must have music," our lives here at Nazareth, through our Perosian Choir, are truly well-rounded.

It was the Perosian Choir which ushered in the Christmas season. Its impressive program, preceded by a solemn candlelight procession, included numbers from Handel's Christmas Messiah, For Unto Us a Child Is Born, and Glory to God in the Highest.

Its annual operetta is without doubt the most popular musical performance at Nazareth. This year the choir presented to us a sparkling musical comedy of the "Roaring Twenties," Our Hearts Were Young and Gay based on the book by Corcey with music and lyrics by Alters and Hartig. It contains humorous episodes, centering around Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough's trip to Europe. Among its numbers, Our Hearts Were Young and Gay, Skinner Kembrough Guide to Europe, and Marry an American received the most applause.

The choir's part in the Spring Concert and May Day ceremonies has much to do with the success with which these activities are carried out. Three impressive numbers of the Spring Concert were He Shall Feed His Flock, a Negro spiritual, Handel's Halleluya Chorus from the Oratorio of Messiah, and selections from Camelot. On May Day, their selections included, besides the proper of the Mass, their beautiful tribute to Mary, Kodaly's Ave Maria, and Ravanello's Magnificat.

Our Perosian Choir has, therefore, broadened our world of culture with their songs—songs which have come to us as dew drops of celestial melody.

... which re-echoes in our Glee Club songs.

Like a painting of Degas with all the beauty of its pastel hues, our Glee Club—the junior songsters of Nazareth—in their soft colored formals, are a delight to the eye. Yet, if they are a delight to the eye, they more than charm our ears with their choral numbers.

For the annual Christmas Program our choristers chose such selections as, Angels, from the Realms of Glory, and O Jesu Sweet, by Bach and Rhea; and concluded with Christ Is the Lord from the Song of Christmas. An added attraction this year was a select group, the Choral Belles, who sang the famous Cherry Tree Carol arranged by Waring and the lively and delightful 'Twas the Night before Christmas.

The Spring Concert, a finale to the group's yearly activities, brought to life forgotten but well-loved numbers. There Is a Balm in Gilead, a Negro spiritual, by Ehret; Gopak, a Russian selection, by Monssorgsky, and the Magnificat, a tribute to Our Lady, provided us with an hour of delightful melody.

Long hours of preparation preceded each performance, but how rewarding the result. Indeed, their appearances always receive the perfect tribute, as we listen in rapt silence to our junior songsters.

Our pleasures are rounds by which we may ascend.

Nazareth Academy Orchestra Personnel

We love our Orchestra melodies . . .

Although our orchestra is neither world-renowned nor largely membered, it is very dear to all of us, for it is our own. At many school performances the orchestra gives us a taste of culture and provides us with numerous proofs of the saying: Music bath charm.

The first stop on our orchestra's musical journey through the year is the senior play. This year's performance, Our Town, was accompanied by entr'acte music from various musical shows of the late Sigmund Romberg. And between acts of the Christmas Play, we heard a variety of international Christmas music pieces including The Wreath of Carols by Matesky, the majestic Shepherd King Overture by Mozart, the spirited Sleigh Ride by Anderson, and the lively Trepak by Tchaikowsky. Later in the year, at the Perosian Operetta, Our Hearts Were Young and Gay, the orchestra put us in the mood of the 1920's by playing the jazz of that era.

On February 22, as Nazareth saluted George Washington, so did the orchestra. At our assembly they delighted us with stately music from his era including Fantasy by Mozart and Little Suite for Orchestra by Erickson, plus highlights from a current favorite, The Sound of Music by Rodgers. As their finale for the year the orchestra added its melody to the Spring Concert with such rhythmical selections, as Symphony in D by Sammartini and Theme from Exodus by Gold.

Indeed, the orchestra well deserves our applause for their tireless effort, our thanks for the enjoyment they have provided, and our praise for their many achievements.

... and the rhythmic beat of our Band.

"Music is the universal language," are the words of the poet, Longfellow. Perhaps this is the reason why we at Nazareth so enjoy our band. And, too, we all feel an uplift at hearing their gay marches.

At the Athletic Association Pep Assembly this year, the band aroused spirited enthusiasm with such selections, as Band Day by Bennett and Semper Fidelis by Sousa. The annual Memorial Day Parade, also, brought us stirring marches. At the Christmas Assembly, we were put in the Yuletide spirit by Three Songs for Christmas by Grundman and Sarabande and Gavotte from Christmas Concerto by Corelli.

The perfect ending to the band's musical year came at the Spring Concert when it played Charter

Our Spectrum discovers latent talent . . .

Although, compared to Nazareth's other publications, the Spectrum, Nazareth's magazine, is still in its infancy, it has already begun to follow the school's tradition of winning top awards. The magazine's initial issue was designated a Magazine of Distinction by the Catholic Press Association, placing it among the top seven in the nation.

The staff's work begins early in the year, though the magazine is not finished until April and is issued in May. This work starts with collecting material from teachers and sponsoring the Writer's Pool. When all the material has been collected, the real work begins.

The editors and staff must read, sort, edit, and type all submitted writing. After several arduous copy-fitting sessions, the "child" goes to the printer and returns in several weeks as a fullgrown magazine.

The Spectrum, as its name implies, tries to capture and preserve the many facets of Nazareth life, much as a prism breaks visible light into the colors of the rainbow. It tries to show the complete life of a Nazareth girl through poetry, short stories, essays, and other writing. The development of a girl at Nazareth can be traced through her writing. When she graduates, she should be a mature Catholic woman, well-informed and capable of expressing concrete opinions. It is the aim of the Spectrum to further her development along these lines, and to bring enjoyment to the entire student body in the form of a magazine that is interesting and educational.

... and our Gabriel trumpets events ...

Nazareth is a small community and, just as a community's press interprets town life, so also does our Gabriel interpret school life. Editorials, features, and news stories speak of our school community.

Club members, visiting invalids, singing songs, holding birthday parties, and playing musical instruments, are heralded in the Gabriel. Honor winning students are praised in its pages. Reports predict such activities as the Senior Play, the Perosian Operetta, and the Christmas formal, as well as club activities.

Editorials urge us to sacrifice for Lent, or spread Christmas cheer to those less fortunate. Features urge us to read good books, to see human interest in school activities, and to observe the finer aspects of campus life. Gabby, our mischievous mascot, urges us to be kind and generous.

We do much work on the Gabriel, just as a community works diligently on its press. Writing stories is only a prelude to endless hours of proofreading, typing, column measuring, headline composing, and counting. Yet, as we "put the paper to bed" each month, we realize that our work of speaking of, by, and for the community of Nazareth, is a labor of love.

We fervently hope that Nazareth's community paper has been an accurate record of scholastic history-in-the-making, and that it has inspired our readers to a better understanding of Nazareth's ideals.

... while our Lanthorn preserves memories.

Like miniature green Leprechauns, we, Lanthorn staff members, have since September been busily collecting golden memories that have caused our pot-of-gold, the 1962 Lanthorn, to overflow.

We worked hard, as good Leprechauns do. We first struggled to produce worthy copy—copy of the homemade electrosopes that worked, of the Latin, German, or French Songs sung at language club meetings, of student plays enjoyed, and of dances gracefully attended. We also spent seemingly unending sessions proofreading.

The great challenge, however, was in meeting deadlines imposed by the master Leprechaun. Our work was pleasure, for we were filling our pot with the golden memories of fine orchestra, band, and vocal music, of superior art works, and of superb dramatic productions.

So as not to be led astray in our work, we attended several press conventions and conferences. The Empire State Press Convention at Syracuse, the Times-Union Conference at the Powers Hotel, and the conference at Saint Bonaventure University taught us some basic fundamentals, which aided us in arranging our pot-of-gold.

Now, you have reached the end of the rainbow. The gold is yours to gaze on now, and fifty years from now. It will always bring a glistening tear and a host of happy memories of Nazareth life, 1961-1962.

A Pleasant Rendezvous

The Lure of the Wishing Well . . .

(Left, Opposite Page): . . . drew many of us to make a wish, as we cast our pennies into its depths. Here Jean Gutmann, Dorothyann Hughes, and their escorts desire that the future will hold for them as many joyous nights as that of their senior ball.

... yet, all emit the perfume of love, engendered in the Sacred Seed of God.

We are deeply grateful to our Patrons, who through their generosity, have enabled us to produce our 1962 Lanthorn.

At Our Trophy Case

(Right): Rita Kolb and Mary Lynne Marella point to a plaque awarded the Lanthorn for its excellence in style and layout—the latter would have been impossible without the co-operation of our Patrons.

At Our Gift Window

Those gifts are ever the most acceptable which the giver makes precious.

This Is the End

(Right): Our graduation procession brings to an end four happy years spent at Nazareth. Like all endings, there is sorrow in the parting from teachers, friends, and familiar places, but there is joy also in the remembrances that flood upon us, as we recall the many happy events which drew us together at Nazareth.
